

When it comes to Internet Service ... IS FREE REALLY FREE?

Many customers sign up with internet companies who promise extremely low rates or thousands of FREE hours. Please keep in mind that you may be getting free hours of internet usage ... but that doesn't necessarily mean they're toll-free!

Each time you access the internet, the modem within your computer dials a telephone number which connects you to the internet. If this telephone number is not a toll-free number you will be billed long distance charges each time you dial in to the internet. You'll end up with a surprisingly HUGE phone bill.

Any time you sign up with an Internet company you are required to manually change the dial-up settings within your computer. You are asked to enter a dial-up number. Make sure this number is a toll-free number.

If in doubt, please contact us.
